Greece: [The Greek Government crisis remains as tangled as ever.]

[Parliament is scheduled to meet again today in another effort to begin the debate which should decide the fate of the two-week-old government of Prime Minister Athanasiadis-Novas. The acting speaker, whose ruling last Friday that the lack of a quorum at that session constituted a vote of no confidence in the government, has reversed himself following a meeting with the King.]

[The government hopes that the bitter disputes which are reported among the supporters of former premier Papandreou will cause more deputies to swing to the government's side. However, if Papandreou's bloc holds firm, he should be able to force a no-confidence vote with the help of the Communist-dominated United Democratic Left (EDA).]

[Except for Minister of Defense Kostopoulos and possibly two other ministers, all members of the present Novas government are said to have signed an unpublicized pledge committing themselves to form a new political grouping if the present government falls.]

[Meanwhile, for the first time in many years former Greek guerrillas now in the Soviet bloc are reported active. [redacted] Greek Communists in Bulgaria have started concentrating near the Greek border. This follows meetings in Sofia between the head of the EDA and leaders of the guerrillas--veterans of the 1946-1949 civil war.]

[redacted] the Communists may be taking contingency measures, possibly with a view to re-entering Greece if a prolonged government crisis provides the opportunity.]

NOTES

25X1 Honduras: Although a tenuous calm exists in Tegucigalpa, the opposition Liberal Party has ordered its paramilitary units to prepare for armed action against the government.

25X1 [redacted] Should these units, which exist throughout the country, begin any such activity they could probably count on some support from Communist and other dissident elements. The Honduran security forces are alerted and will probably be able to contain any disorders.

West Germany - France - Common Market: [The West German Government has indicated its firm intention to oppose any attempt by the French to weaken the Common Market's Commission. According to a ranking Foreign Ministry official, Bonn will not agree to any change in the EEC treaty which would reduce the Commission's role, nor will it be a party to any "deal" with the French to replace any of the present commissioners. In this connection, Bonn intends to delay deposit of its ratification of a treaty amendment combining the EEC, EURATOM, and Coal-Steel Community executives, in order to deprive the French of a chance to drop EEC President Hallstein and Commissioner Mansholt when the new commissioners are selected at the time of fusion.]
